

MOUNTAIN TIME ZONE COURT/BCPS/POLICE LOCATIONS

Interior Region

The following Interior Region Court, Crown Counsel and Police locations are in the Mountain Time Zone. They are always one-hour ahead of Pacific Time, whether Standard or Daylight Savings.

- Cranbrook Law Courts, Crown Counsel and RCMP
- Golden Law Courts and RCMP
- Columbia Valley (Invermere, Radium) RCMP
- Elk Valley (Sparwood) RCMP
- Elkford RCMP
- Fernie RCMP

Creston RCMP follows Mountain Time during Pacific Standard Time (one hour ahead) but follows Pacific Daylight Time (same time) from early March to early November.

Northern Region

The following Northern Region Court, Crown Counsel and Police locations remain on Mountain Standard Time all year long. They are one-hour ahead of Pacific Standard Time, from early November to early March. They are the same time as Pacific Daylight Savings Time.

- Dawson Creek Law Courts, Crown Counsel and RCMP
- Fort Nelson Law Courts, Crown Counsel and RCMP
- Fort St. John Law Courts, Crown Counsel and RCMP
- Chetwynd RCMP
- Hudson's Hope RCMP
- Northern Rockies RCMP
- Tumbler Ridge RCMP

Counsel should prioritize those matters that will be dealt with by justice system partners (police, Crown, and court registries) in those parts of the province that are one-hour ahead on Mountain time, even though judges, counsel and the accused may be situated in the Pacific Time zone. Court registries on Mountain Time need to generate and complete post-hearing processes and document distribution before end of their normal registry staff hours, which are between 3:30 to 4:00 Pacific Time.
